

TALKING POINTS FOR SPEAKING WITH NEW HIRES

UNITED WAY CAMPAIGN

- Talk about your organization's Corporate Citizenship/Volunteerism policy:
 - Discuss your organization's focus/impact areas, and how United Way aligns with these
 - Does your organization offer paid time off for employees to volunteer?
 - Are group volunteer projects offered throughout the year?
 - Are staff volunteer hours tracked?
- Share what you love about your company's involvement with United Way:
 - Talk about why it is important to your company to support United Way, the history of the partnership, how long your organization has participated in the United Way Campaign.
- The fall United Way Campaign is a focused effort to raise dollars, helping solve critical problems our community faces. The money raised during this campaign supports a strong network of quality nonprofits and services to help change lives in our community. The needs of our region are complex and interconnected, and not one nonprofit or program can fix it all. Together, United Way's nonprofit partners strengthen our regional safety net, so no one slips through the cracks.
- If your new hire expresses interest in your organization's United Way Campaign or asks a question, below is some suggested information you can share:
 - Talk about your organization's annual United Way Campaign:
 - How does your organization kick off and/or wrap up the annual campaign each year?
 - If your organization hosts special events or other campaign activities each year, mention those.
 - Does your organization set a campaign goal each year (a dollar amount goal, participation goal, etc.)?
- Let the new hire know that they do not need to wait until your organization's annual United Way Campaign to make a pledge—they can start making a difference right now by filling out a pledge card as they complete payroll and benefits enrollment paperwork.
